

EMMA WHEAT - FACILITATOR, LEADERSHIP AND EXECUTIVE COACH PCC, CPCC

Combining Coaching Tools, Experiential Training and Behavioural Assessments for Performance and Leadership Development.

Coaches Training Institute Faculty Member and Trainer, Certified Professional Co-Active Coach CPCC, Author and Workshop Facilitator, Emma Wheat is a highly skilled developer of people, facilitating the personal development, learning and well being of individual Executives and their teams. Her insight and understanding of various cultures stems from over 16 years living in the Middle East, facilitating Leadership and Coach Training courses throughout Europe, the Middle East and Asia, including China and Singapore. Her work creates greater collaboration and motivation to improve leadership, strengthening organisational culture over time.

Using a variety of tools and assessments, Emma works with both teams and individuals in the corporate world to coach and develop personal leadership styles, identifying strengths that will result in outstanding performance. She helps clients to manage change, enhance performance, discover solutions and create their own sustainability.

Emma is a Faculty member for the Coaches Training Institute (CTI) the world's premier coach training institute, and has trained thousands of students across Europe, the Middle East, and Asia.

Also working as a Leadership facilitator, Emma Co-Leads the corporate Emerging Leadership Programme for Capgemini, based in Paris. In this context, she regularly helps leaders to discover when they are most powerful, to become aware of the impact they have and how they want to develop as a leader.

Emma blends her past experiences as Educator, British Embassy Commercial Officer, Senior Manager and Corporate Ambassador with powerful coaching to create transformation within leaders at all levels. Her background as an educator, senior manager, leader, and facilitator of workshops allows her to work easily with senior executives and teams to ensure synergy and change. Over the past six years, Emma has proven her ability to coach, train and motivate individuals and teams to achieve optimum results and fulfilling careers.
